

LILY MAY FUTRELLE

(née Peel; May 26, 1876 – October 29, 1967)

was an American writer. She and her husband, fellow writer Jacques Futrelle, were passengers on the maiden voyage of RMS Titanic in April 1912. He died in its sinking after insisting that she board a lifeboat while he remained on the ship. She famously jumped from the lifeboat back onto the ship, unwilling to leave her beloved behind.

Upon returning stateside, she was one of the original tenants of the Granada Apartment building. She went on to publish several of her husband's unfinished works as well as her own and hosted a radio show.
